Dysart tree cutting by-law a success

The success of Dysart et al's tree cutting by-law could be the catalyst for a similar by-law that would apply across the county.

Dysart's by-law, drafted with input from local loggers and government forestry experts, has been in force for a year, and under a 'grandfather' clause, it will be reexamined before being implemented for a further term.

But preliminary indications are that the by-law has been well received by loggers, and has resulted in improved forest management practices within the municipality.

Members of the county's forest management committee attended a meeting of Dysart council last Tuesday to hear a report on the by-law, and came away with information that could result in county wide legislation.

Committee chairman Elgin Stouffer said local woodcutters have had "no complaints" about the Dysart by-law, which sets limits on the sizes of certain species that may be harvested by commercial loggers.

"And the tourists, who constitute most of our voters, are happy to know that something is being done," Stouffer said.

While the Dysart by-law has been effective within the municipality, Stouffer said "it would be more effective at the county level."

But any effort to draft a county wide by-law would almost certainly meet with opposition from some members of county council. Stouffer noted that Snowdon reeve Bob Vick, who is a member of the county's forest management committee "is still pretty much opposed to any kind of by-law to control tree cutting."

Stouffer said he will broach the subject of a county wide tree cutting by-law at the November session of county council if he can get the support of his committee.

The Stanhope deputy reeve noted that Haliburton is the closest timber covered area to the huge Toronto market for wood "and if anything would lend itself to a little bit more care in harvesting the trees, it should here."

Stouffer said the fact that loggers and municipal officials in Dysart are happy with effectiveness of their

by-law might help persuade county council that a similar by-law is needed.

Dysart will reconvene the committee it struck to draft the original by-law, and after incorporating any changes the committee may suggest, will reimpose the by-law for 1984.

Reeve Murray Fearrey said that while there have been some minor offenses against the by-law, loggers have shown "a tremendous amount of support for it."

"It's a vast improvement on what was being done, which was nothing," the reeve said. "It was definitely a deterrent."

Felix Possak and his banjo palace band led off the Haliburton Highlands Concert Series Monday night, bringing toe tapping music and a good deal of fun to close to 200 people who were on hand for the show. The series continues in March and May.

Chamber to elect board at day-long get together

The Highlander of the Year award will be presented this Wednesday night at the culmination of the annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce.

Again this year the meeting will include a number of morning and afternoon seminars, and a banquet in the evening.

Activities get underway at 8:45 at Wig-A-Mog Inn with registration and coffee in the main foyer.

At 9:15 a panel discussion entitled 'You, Haliburton County and the Future' will begin, with former Chamber manager and marketing director Bob Stinson acting as moderator. Participants will include Mike Walker of the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation, Gary Kenney, a councillor in Anson, Hindon and Minden, and Ken Langdon, owner of Black's Home Hardware in Haliburton. The session will conclude with a question and answer period.

The keynote seminar, entitled 'Quality Counts - Lessons from the Japanese' will feature David Blenkhorn, professor of business at Wilfrid Laurier University talking about the importance of quality in running a business in the 80's.

Following a light luncheon, the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation's 'Tourism Awareness Presentation' will be introduced by representative Mike Walker.

Later, participants will have a chance to choose one of two seminars. Allan Clarke of the Marketing Department of Canada Post will deliver a seminar on 'Canada Post - more than first class mail', which will include tips on how business can cut down on mailing costs. Derry Wilford and Lloyd Flemming from the Bank of Montreal will head a commercial banking workshop dealing with cash management and commercial lending, topics that should be of particular interest to local business operators.

The annual meeting portion of the day gets underway at 3:15 p.m. Included will be the president's report, the election of directors, appointment of auditors and any new business which members may wish to bring up.

Nominees for the board of directors to date are: incumbents John Stainton; Ken Langdon, Black's Home Hardware; Alan Bagg, Eagle Lake Store; Jack McGregor, Camp Kandalore; Bob Jennings, Sandy Lane Resort; Wendy Ramsay, Halimar; and George Schmid, Harvest Restaurant. Others trying for a seat on the board are: John Bath, Mountain Park Cottages; Gus

Changes to bridge possible

Consultants look at raising height with smaller beams

Haliburton County's road committee has appointed a consulting firm to examine alternatives and provide cost estimates for changes that would increase the clearance above the water of a proposed new bridge in Ingoldsby.

The decision came after a year of protests from individuals and ratepayers associations in the area who argue that the proposed bridge, designed in 1974 and redesigned in 1982, would restrict boat access between Canning and Kashagawigamog Lakes when water levels are high.

County engineer Bill Obee said the 1982 design would be 18 inches lower than the present bridge, but would still provide adequate clearance for the largest boat currently in use on the lake chain.

In response to ratepayers' protests, however, the roads committee has decided to look at ways of increasing the clearance without changing the planned approaches to the proposed new two lane bridge.

Obee says the 1982 design uses four box beams as main supports, but the consultants have been asked to provide cost information on changes that might include the use of eight smaller box beams.

The 1982 design, if built in that year, would have cost an estimated $350,000. Changing the number and size of box beams without raising the driving surface of the proposed bridge could add $50,000 to the cost, Obee said, not including the additional engineering fees that would be incurred.

A 1980 study estimated that repairing the existing one lane steel structure would cost $100,000, but did not recommend that alternative.

The 1982 design would be approximately 18 inches closer to the water than the present bridge, but would retain the curving approaches.

Ratepayers in the area have argued that the new bridge would narrow the existing channel, adding a further hindrance to boat traffic.

One of the most vocal opponents of a new bridge has been Joseph Curtin, an adjacent property owner, a portion of whose land would be expropriated. Curtin continues to maintain that a new bridge is not needed, and that if one must be built, it should maintain the existing clearance.

While his position has not been supported by county politicians or the county engineer, the county roads committee appears unready to commit itself to construct a new bridge in the hamlet until more information is obtained.

Anson, Hindon and Minden deputy reeve Ed Pergolas, a member of the county roads committee, told council last Thursday that arguments over the height of the new bridge "are only part of the problem."

"Costs keep escalating," he said, hinting that delays may push the cost so high that the county will be unwilling to give the go ahead for the bridge. The price could easily rise to half a million dollars, Pergolas said, which would be a "big bite" out of the county road budget in any year.

Up to now, municipal and county representatives have heard from "a vocal minority" opposed to the bridge, Pergolas said, but the majority of Ingoldsby area ratepayers have not indicated whether they want a new bridge in the community.

Pergolas told council he wanted "some sort of direction" from them, and from the hamlet's ratepayers "as to which direction to proceed." He noted that there is "a certain amount of resistance" at the county level to spending half a million dollars on a new bridge. Councillor Dave Stevens suggested that if the county does not proceed with the bridge "you may be putting off the inevitable."

Pergolas agreed, noting that as Ingoldsby grows, there will be an increasing need for a two lane bridge over the narrows.

But he added that "we have to know the wishes of the Ingoldsby people" before making a final decision at the county level.

The consultants are expected to report their findings to the county next month.

Flood meeting

Local politicians and citizens concerned about provincial flood plain regulations will have to travel to Lindsay if they want to put their views before a flood plain review committee which is presently touring Ontario.

The seven member committee, appointed by provincial natural resources Minister Allan Pope, will convene in Lindsay Thursday evening.

Flood plain regulations apply across the province, but are of particular interest to Anson, Hindon and Minden, and Lutterworth Townships at the moment, since both are undertaking flood plain mapping along the Gull River in conjunction with new zoning by-laws.

The Lindsay meeting is the only time the review committee will be in the immediate area.

The old Ingoldsby bridge is the centre of an ongoing controversy. County council is considering a new bridge on the site that could cost upwards of $350,000, while some ratepayers want the old bridge repaired.

Minden's main street is getting quite a few changes these days. Crews were busy this week laying new sidewalks of interlocking stone to make the core area more attractive. Traffic has been interrupted in the last few weeks because of the work, but the result is expected to be worth the inconvenience.

Ainsley Dickinson declared conflict of interest in regard to cheque #6512 and refrained from discussion.

Hospital gets therapy grant

Haliburton's hospital will receive an annual grant of $16,300 to expand its out-patient physiotherapy services, provincial Health Minister Keith Norton has announced.

The grant will allow the hospital to offer full-time physiotherapy to all of southern Haliburton County. The hospital now operates a part-time service in Haliburton.

The expanded service will begin as soon as a contract is signed with a local physiotherapist.

The Red Cross Hospital in Haliburton, which was recommended for funding by the Haliburton, Kawartha and Pine Ridge District Health Council, is one of 36 across the province to receive funds for new or expanded out-patient physiotherapy services. All the hospitals are located in areas designated underserved by the Health Ministry and the Ontario Physiotherapy Association.

"This program reflects the ministry's increasing emphasis on out-patient, community-based services," Norton said.

More than $800,000 will be added to the 36 hospitals' budgets to cover this year's start-up costs, salaries and operating expenses.

It is estimated that more than 13,000 people will receive physiotherapy each year under the new and expanded services.

Physiotherapists help patients to regain muscular strength and improve co-ordination and range of movement through instruction and the development of suitable exercise programs. Physiotherapy benefits many people including infants with birth defects, such as cerebral palsy and missing limbs, accident and stroke victims, and those who suffer from degenerative conditions such as arthritis.

Information booth had busy summer

More than 14,000 people came to the information caboose in Haliburton over the summer season, a number that was higher than usual because of the exceptionally pleasant weather that prevailed throughout July and August.

Some 14,031 visitors made use of the caboose's services, of whom 13,519 were from Ontario.

Only 70 of those who requested information from staff at the centre were from other provinces, while 254 were from the United States and 188 were from other countries, including England, Wales, West Germany, France, Holland, Japan, Australia, South Africa, Scotland and the Bahamas.

Highest number of enquiries came between July 17 and 31, when 3,670 people were recorded, including 3,494 from Ontario, 34 from other provinces, 87 from the U.S.A. and 55 from other countries.

The July 1 to 16 period was also a busy time at the information caboose, as some 2,888 enquiries were handled.

Between August 1 and August 14, 2,716 visitors were assisted.

From August 15 to the end of the month a total of 1,960 people visited the centre.

Between May 20 and June 30, enquiries totalled 1,334, while 1,463 people asked for help between September 1 and October 9.

Youth sentenced to 11 months in jail

A 16 year old West Guilford youth has been sentenced to 11 months in jail in connection with a series of crimes.

Randy Upton received the sentence from Judge G.F.W. Inrig at a provincial court session in Minden October 5.

Upton was sentenced to three months in jail for the August 6 assault of a 19 year old Willowdale youth who was walking on a street in Haliburton village. The assault appeared to be racially motivated, the court was told.

A further 60 day sentence was imposed for an August 15 breakin at a West Guilford garage in which a quantity of cigarettes and a small amount of cash was stolen.

On August 16, Upton was denied entry into a Haliburton village restaurant and caused a disturbance to patrons by yelling and swearing. The offense resulted in a 30 day sentence.

Later that day, Upton broke into a different restaurant in the village and stole a quantity of liquor, for which he received a further 60 days in jail.

On August 16, Upton also created a disturbance on Pine Street in Haliburton by fighting with other youths, swearing at neighbours and kicking a small dog. The judge imposed an additional 60 day sentence for these offenses.

On September 20, while released from custody and awaiting court proceedings, and while bound by an undertaking to be of good behaviour and refrain from drinking alcohol, Upton was found by police to be impaired. This offense resulted in a 30 day sentence.

In addition to the 11 months of jail terms, Upton was placed on probation for three years. During the probation period, which begins when he is released from jail, he must keep the peace and be of good behaviour, reside at his parents' home and keep a curfew, refrain from the consumption of alcohol, and must actively seek employment or return to school.

Mishaps produce injuries

Drivers and passengers escaped with only minor injuries in a number of accidents in the area during the past week.

A Sommerville Township woman was slightly hurt in a two car accident on the Minden by-pass at 2:40 p.m. Thursday.

Janice Skelding, age 29, was hurt when her car collided with the right front corner of a car driven by George Stewart, age 86, of Minden. Stewart was crossing the highway from one parking lot to another when the mishap occurred. He was charged with failing to yield the right-of-way.

Skelding was charged with failing to wear a seatbelt assembly. Damage to the vehicles was estimated at a total of $4,000.

A Lochlin youth, suffered minor injuries when the car he was driving left County Road 18 in Minden Township and struck a rock cut.

The mishap occurred at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Are your hard-earned dollars going up in smoke?

Then take a few minutes now and discover how adding electricity to your oil furnace can dramatically cut the cost of heating your home.

If your oil furnace is in good condition, but you'd like it to run more economically, a dual-energy system combining oil and electricity may be just the answer. In fact, depending on how much electric heat you add, and how you operate your system, you could use as little as one tank of oil for an entire heating season!

An electric plenum heater, for example, will reduce the amount of oil your furnace uses by up to 75%. While adding a heat pump will cut oil use by 25 to 30%, and provide air conditioning in the summer for economical year-round comfort.

If your furnace does need replacing, an electric furnace or one of the other electric systems can heat your home cleanly, efficiently and economically.

If you'd like to know more about dual-energy and all-electric systems, write to Ontario Hydro, 620 University Ave., 4th Floor, Toronto M5C 1X6, and ask for our free booklet "Electric Heating Options for Your Home."

The few minutes you take now could add up to big savings this winter.

Drivers hurt

Injured was Robert Milburn, age 17. He was charged with careless driving.

Damage to the vehicle, a 1979 Toyota, was estimated at $1,000.

A resident of Avon, England escaped unharmed Sunday afternoon when he lost control of his rented car on loose gravel and skidded into a rock cut on Highway 507 south of Gooderham.

James Moss, age 25, was the driver of the car, which incurred an estimated $3,500 damage.

Later that evening, a Stouffville man and his passenger were slightly injured in an accident on Highway 35 in Sherborne Township.

Jeffrey Reynolds, age 18, was forced to drive off the roadway to avoid a second vehicle, and his car entered a ditch, striking a rock cut. Reynolds and his passenger, Mike Hammond, age 18, of Markham received minimal injuries.

Damage to the car was estimated at $1,200.

Mini fair is coming down

Minden's mini fair building will be dismantled and put in storage for the winter while councillors look for ideas about what should be done with it.

The mini fair, set up adjacent to the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office, was intended to serve as a retail area for local crafts people and community groups, and to give tourism a boost, but these hopes have not been realized.

In a bid to keep the concept alive, councillor Gary Kenney, who originated the mini fair concept, told council last month that he would ask the Haliburton County Farmers Association if they wanted to use part of the building for their farmers market next summer.

But at a meeting last Thursday, Kenney reported that there is no proposal from the farmers association "nor will there be." They will continue the market next summer, "but they don't want to be associated with the building in any way," Kenney said.

He said he had contacted agricultural society president Wayne Cox to see if there was interest in moving the structure to the fair grounds, and that Cox was to have an answer for council by the end of the month.

Rick Vaughan and his specially adapted sax

Playing the saxophone again:

Electrical wizardry helps Rick Vaughan express his talent

When Rick Vaughan lost his right forearm in an industrial accident, he was a music student at the University of Western Ontario with a particular talent for the saxophone. The accident appeared to end his hopes of playing the music he had spent many years to learn, but he went on to become an accomplished trumpeter and a music teacher at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Now however, thanks to the extraordinary skills of scientists and technicians at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, and his own determination, Rick Vaughan is once more playing the saxophone, and sharing the beauty of his music with others.

Not long after the accident, technicians at Northern Telecom in London worked with Vaughan in an attempt to come up with an electronic means of activating the right hand keys that he could no longer use. Solenoids - small, electronically activated pistons - held the most promise, but the system proved too bulky, and required too large a control box to be practical.

So he put aside the saxophone and turned to brass.

"But I think I always knew that I would never become the trumpet player that I am a sax player," Vaughan says.

Several months ago, a television show that he didn't even see helped to set in motion the chain of events that have given him back the keys of his saxophone.

Hank Demarco, a professional saxophonist from California who had lost his left hand to cancer, appeared on 'That's Incredible'. A university team in Edmonton working on myoelectric arms had fashioned an electronic control system linked to solenoids that enabled DeMarco to play once again. Vaughan's mother-in-law saw the show and told him about it. A short time later an article on Demarco appeared in the Toronto Star. It named the members of the Edmonton team who had developed the system, and Vaughan decided to call them, on the chance that they could engineer a device that would suit his disability. The team felt but never denied.

"I just can't tell what the limits of it are, because I haven't gotten anywhere near them yet," Vaughan says. "The system is, for all intents and purposes, instantaneous." "I'm going back and playing the pieces that I worked on at university but never performed."

The only complication he has discovered so far is that this skin sensitivity varies. Some days the switches seem too sensitive, and he must be extremely careful not to make contact when he does not want a particular note to sound. But he has been given a cream that, when applied to his stump, helps make the conductivity of his skin uniform.

At the moment he practices about

'I just can't tell what the limits of it are'

they could, and in February, Vaughan sent his saxophone to Edmonton so the necessary modification could be made.

Four solenoid switches were installed over the right hand valves, and two other valves were adapted so Vaughan could depress them using his left thumb.

In July he went to Edmonton, where a prosthetist at the Alberta Workman's Compensation Board cast a shell that would fit the stump of Vaughan's right arm. A number of bolts were installed inside the shell and wired to controls in a plastic lunch box. Wires also led from the box to the solenoid switches on the saxophone. Skin conductivity of the stump completed a circuit when the bolts were touched, activating the solenoids in various combinations. With practice, Vaughan was once more playing the saxophone, and so far it looks like he'll be able to make the music that the accident had up to an hour a day with the device, but hopes to put in more time once he has soundproofed a small studio in his home.

While he has not yet discovered the limits of the device, he knows that there will be some.

"It's hard to imagine that the system is really as good as 10 fingers."

But there is no doubt that it is enabling him to play the saxophone very well.

"Right now I can see myself playing anything but the most difficult pieces," he says.

Haliburton County residents who would like to see and hear how well Vaughan can play using the device can do so at a concert November 5 at Haliburton high school sponsored by the Help a Village Effort committee of Haliburton. He hopes to perform a sonata for saxophone and piano on that night and is practising it as often as he can.

Teachers see OSIS problems

Ontario parents are not aware of shortcomings in a revised secondary school program that could affect thousands of students during their high school careers, the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation claims.

Malcolm Buchanan, OSSTF president, said in a news release that the teacher federation has urged school boards across the province to take advantage of a one year's delay to make sure that the new high school guidelines will meet the needs of their local students.

Buchanan said the program has been "sold to parents and the general public under the label of back-to-the-basics which appeals to everyone, but only teachers seem to be aware of what is in the fine print."

Although the provincial document known as Ontario Schools: Intermediate and Senior (OSIS) became official earlier this month, teachers are still concerned about a number of areas, according to Buchanan.

The teachers' federation has told the Ministry that seven months is an inadequate time to implement before next spring, particularly in staffing, preparation of guidance and counselling information and the development of courses and study curriculum support documents and school calendars.

According to the federation the OSIS document overlooks creative ideas for youth employment and job creation schemes, despite chronic unemployment rates of about 25% for Ontario youth.

Neither high school teachers nor the universities know the answers to many key questions, the federation says. It asks if the universities will agree to accept all technological studies at the Ontario Academic Credit level (final year), and wonders who will teach these new technological studies.

Failure rates are expected to increase for general level and basic level students, forcing them early into a jobless market, according to Buchanan.

He said the Ministry has announced guidelines requiring more students to take French, but the question of who will teach the extra students remains unanswered.

The federation says publishers and other suppliers of Canadian learning material are uninformed about changes in OSIS and are "quite unprepared." The federation also wants to know if the Ministry of Education will be providing additional grants to school boards to implement OSIS. As well, the federation is asking who will pay for the professional development of those teachers asked to teach multi-grade and bi-level classes under the new system.

"These are only some of the areas that concern us," Buchanan said. "Schools are being asked to prepare timetables for the next school year without knowing what will be in the new curricula. There is a rush which concerns us greatly."

The OSSTF president noted that teachers are pleased with some aspects of the OSIS document.

"Some of our earlier concerns have been reflected. We are all in favour of a new stress on attendance. We are pleased that the Ministry listened to our concerns about substitute credits."

Eleven employees retire from local Hydro office

Eleven long time employees of Ontario Hydro's Minden Area were honoured last Saturday night on the occasion of their retirement.

Some 200 people were on hand for the event, which was held at the Legion Hall in Haliburton.

It is the first time that so many employees have retired from Minden District office in one year.

The retirees were presented with a plaque and $50 by the Hydro's social club.

Those retiring include Claude Brown, a line sub foreman, who joined Hydro in 1951; Denzell Cox, a truck driver, who has been employed by Hydro since 1948; Garnet Davis, a pole crew member, who began his service in 1956; Harry Earle, a customer service representative, who joined Hydro in 1952; Alex Godin, an area lines foreman, employed by Hydro since 1946; Phil Graham, also an area lines foreman, who began with Hydro in 1946; Les Johnson, a lines foreman who joined Hydro in 1947; Don Mann, an area forestry foreman who has worked for Hydro since 1947; Sam Rogers, a lines technician who joined Hydro in 1951; Wes Sisson, a truck driver with Hydro since 1955; and Ralph Young, forestry foreman, who began working for the power company in 1951.

Dan Reid acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. Former area manager Doug Campbell was on hand for the occasion, and said Grace.

Area manager Cal Wilson also spoke at the celebration, which concluded with an evening of dancing.

The Minden area employs a total of 59 people in office, forestry and line duties.

Bob Fyfe emerges from the basement walkway at Haliburton United Church Monday, as construction work to link the church and the Christian Education building got underway. The front of the church will also be enlarged to accommodate more seating.

Control

Haliburton County council should give serious consideration to passing a tree cutting by-law that would limit the size of trees that can be cut and put pressure on loggers to minimize damage to smaller trees from skidders and other machinery. Dysart et al council passed such a by-law last year, and reports indicate not only that it is working well, but that loggers are in favour of it.

For many years, some local citizens with a particular interest in the forest industry have laid the blame for what they perceive as poor forest management at the feet of the Ministry of Natural Resources. And there is little doubt that the charges have had some validity. It is common knowledge that for all its self promotion, the government of the province has allowed more trees to be cut than are replanted, and has not provided the level of funding that would allow widespread management of mixed hardwood forests like those that predominate in Haliburton County. The situation isn't likely to change. That does not mean that local forests cannot be improved, but it does mean that any serious attempt to do so must come from local politicians and property owners rather than from provincial officials.

Enforcement of a county wide by-law would be difficult. It might require the hiring of a qualified forester on a year round basis. Or it might have to be turned over to individual municipalities who could police the by-law with their own jurisdictions through their municipal law enforcement officers, or retain a knowledgeable logger on a part time basis. Either way, the by-law would have to be carefully monitored to be effective.

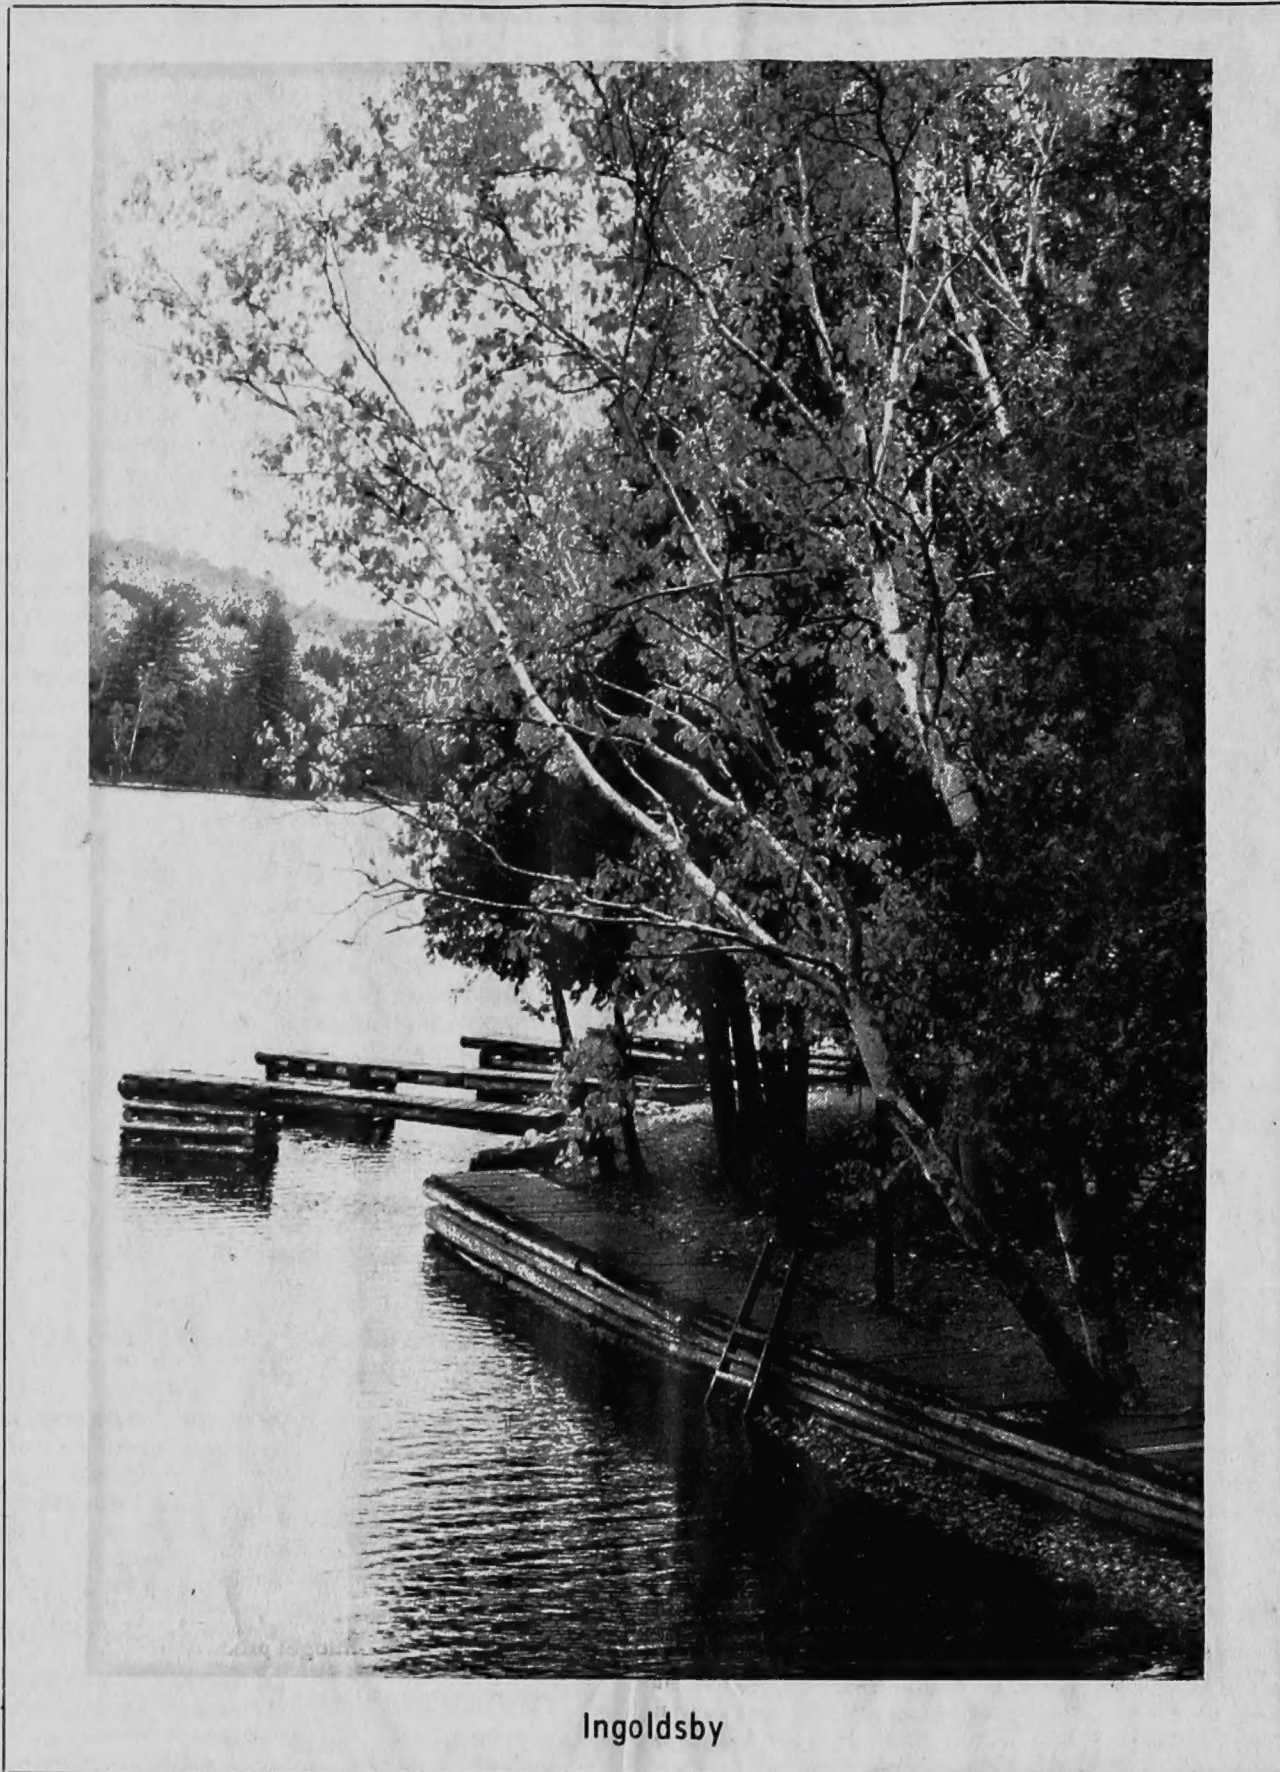

Some individuals who sit on county council will almost certainly oppose a tree cutting by-law if it is proposed. But the issue should be brought out into the open even if the customary back room testing of the waters indicates that it would not find majority support. Ratepayers with an interest in the long term economic health of the county know that forestry will continue to play an important role. If municipal representatives don't care enough about the future to want the forests preserved and improved, voters have a right to know about it.

Enough

It appears that residents of Ingoldsby may be the final arbiters in a dispute that has raged for more than a year now, ever since the county began formal steps that would lead to the construction of a new bridge in the community. From the outset - and the initial planning efforts go back to 1974 - some ratepayers in the area have maintained that a new bridge is unnecessary, and that the proposed new bridge would interfere with boat traffic between Canning and Kashagawigamog Lakes.

To date there have been petitions, letters, delegations, revisions, and confrontations, and yet the basic questions remain unanswered. Should something upward of a third of a million dollars be spent to span thirty feet of water, on a road that gets the bulk of its traffic in the summer? Will the new bridge cause undue hardship to boaters, and if so, for how much of the boating season? Should the old bridge be repaired at a cost of at least $100,000? Some people close to the issue say the questions have been answered, while others contend that much has yet to be proven. What is certain is that the longer the issue simmers, the more it will cost to resolve it.

The time for further argument is over. The road committee should commit itself to build the new bridge or drop it altogether. Of the two courses, building the bridge seems the most sensible choice.

Readers speak out on bus safety

To The Editor:

The conclusions of the Hamilton Wentworth Council for Road Trauma are in conflict with their findings. While on one hand they defend school buses as the safest vehicles on the road they point out that the structure of the bus is so flimsy that there is no safe anchor point to attach seat belts. This poor design aspect comes as no surprise as school buses are built on truck frames that were never designed for passenger conveyance. Nor was the body designed with passenger protection in mind. Why does the Council feel that seat belts wouldn't fit the range of passenger sizes when such belts are already mandatory for cars?

Unfortunately the Council's study is based on a set of statistics comparing school bus and automobile accident records. There simply is no rationale for such a comparison. Comparing fatalities and injuries per number of passengers in the respective types of vehicles does not take into account the discrepancy between passenger accommodation and operating environments for these vehicles. If you allow an average of three passengers per car and 35 passengers per bus one realizes that the Council is comparing accident records of 33,333 cars versus 2,857 buses. Hardly a fair comparison. The potential exposure to accidents for the car group is 11 1/2 times greater than that of the bus group if all other factors were considered equal. But all other factors are not equal and in fact favour school bus operation again falsely inflating its apparent safety factor. In operating school buses much greater control can be exercised in driver selection and training as well as working parameters such as weather, choice of routes, etc. Automobiles tend to be operated by more poorly qualified drivers in more hazardous situations. How do school buses and their safety (or more appropriately unsafety) record stack up against commercial carrier buses?

The Council's conclusion for better driver training is sadly lacking and is a discredit to their study. School bus drivers are responsible for the very lives of their passengers, yet ironically they are probably the lowest paid group in the school system. They perform their duties in the most hostile work environment in one of the poorest designed modes of transportation on our roads today. In addition to their driving duties they must supervise students at a ratio that would alarm most academic supervisors in the safe confines of a classroom.

School boards and the Ministry of Education need to take an honest look at the root of not only fatalities and injuries associated with bussing but also the psychological effect on students who are bussed hundreds of miles per week. We are simply over bussing our children in what can only be described as death traps.

There needs to be a re-evaluation of the ongoing process of school centralization which promotes excessive bussing of children. Should school bussing be handled by companies that exist on the basis of profit motive? What funding reforms are necessary to allow for the provision of adequate, safe transportation of school children? But, most important of all, what is happening to our society when parents are apathetic to decisions of institutions when those decisions are not in the best interests of the health and welfare of children?

Paul Dillon
Haliburton, Ont.

To The Editor:

I am one of the many concerned parents of children involved in the school bus accident Friday morning, September 30.

In my opinion an accident such as this would never have happened, had the buses not been changing passengers in the middle of a main highway. There are no signs telling unwary drivers of a bus stop for one thing and for another the stop is made in a place where visibility is poor at the best of times, let alone in dense fog. Surely, there must be areas off the main highways where these changovers can be made without risking the lives of our children. Stops such as this are being made all over the county where children are crossing busy highways in order to transfer from one bus to another.

The truck driver is charged in this incident, but I wonder who is really to blame? I think our Board of Education should think about where these stops are made and how dangerous they are. Why does it take a near tragedy to make them aware? Also, why are children even riding buses when there is dense fog, freezing rain, etc.

Parents, take a stand. Our children's lives are at stake. Thank God, they are alive, but let's not have another incident like the one on County Road 1.

The spirit of co-operation and caring for others which is often shown by the people of Haliburton was never more visible than recently when a mother and her children lost everything they owned in a fire near Haliburton. Their house, which was owned by Lorne Bailey and was rented by this family and located on Woods Road burned to the ground. The Salvation Army was soon on the scene to supply much needed clothing and other articles. A local resort took them in for a week free of charge until they were able to get another place to live, neighbours and caring people in the community sent the word around that this family needed help and the good people of Haliburton answered the call with help for this family. This is a case of people helping people and it shows that people still do really care. And when you think about things isn't this what it's all about. In time of need real people from this community can be counted on to come through with the help that is always so urgently needed. The Haliburton Fire Department are also to be congratulated on the fast and efficient manner in which they answered the call to this fire.

This Thursday evening the guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haliburton will be Mel Zwaig who will speak on the topic "Business Failure, you can see it coming." Mr. Zwaig was an advisor to Israel on the subject of the Middle East.

I have just been informed that all those from Minden, Haliburton and surrounding area who are interested in refereeing hockey this year are invited to attend a Referees' Clinic at Huntsville on Saturday, November 12. Following the clinic the referees will be presented with their O.M.H.A. cards. I have been told that local referees are in short demand and if some of the referees don't come forward and show some interest in this area of the game outside referees will have to be brought in from outside the county at considerable expense to the local minor hockey associations. If you are interested you can get in touch with Claude Parish at Haliburton and his phone number is 457-1805.

The Haliburton Ministerial Association will be presenting a seminar on "Death and Dying" at the Senior Elementary School at Haliburton from Sunday, November 20 to Tuesday, November 22.

My score for a speaker goes up a few notches, When he speaks with a watch that he frequently watches. But it's lowered again, when before he gets through, He's got us all watching our own watches too!

Fans are coming back to the Barrie Arena these days to watch the thrilling hockey games being dished up by the Barrie Colts of the Central Ontario Junior "B" Hockey League. One of the reasons the fans are back is the great play of new young players like Kevin Warburton of Haliburton who is playing this season for the Colts and attending school in Barrie. The Barrie Examiner, reporting on a recent game played between Streetsville and Barrie, had this to say. "It was a night in which a fan favourite was born. Kevin Warburton, a diminutive centreman who toiled with the Junior "C" Haliburton Huskies last season, electrified the hometown fans. The fiery forward pestered the Streetsville Derbys all night and displayed some pretty moves. Ironically, Warburton didn't see the end result of his piece of handiwork. He slammed shoulder first into the boards after scoring what proved to be the game-winning goal in the second period. Warburton centred the club's most effective line with Bryan Cyr and Kevin Roulston on the wings. They forechecked relentlessly and forced Streetsville to make some uncanny errors."

Ed Addison, who works for the Ministry of Natural Resources, was a recent guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. He spoke on the subject of the area that he specializes in which is wildlife diseases. His main topic was moose ticks. Ed's most recent study with moose seemed to indicate that ticks could be the reason for the sharp decline in the moose herds in other parts of Canada. Still on the subject of the Rotary Club the Haliburton club was honoured last Thursday evening to have the District Governor present who was paying his annual visit to Haliburton. The meeting was in the form of a ladies' night.

Jack Bannon of Haliburton, who has been employed by the Ontario Hydro for the past 35 years, has retired. His job during this time as a hydro foreman took him to all parts of Ontario. Born and raised in Haliburton, where he attended school and was at one time the star netminder for the Haliburton Huskies, Jack will spend his retirement years with his family in Haliburton. We wish him the best of luck in the years ahead.

Work has started on the first two phases of the extension and renovations that are being made to the Haliburton United Church. Phase three is expected to begin when the first two phases are completed. It will be anniversary Sunday at the Haliburton United Church this coming Sunday, October 23 with one combined service at 11:00 a.m. The guest preacher for the occasion will be the Rev. Don Nicholson. A potluck lunch will follow the service. Rev. John James will be the anniversary preacher that day in Janetville.

Pic of the Past

The local hockey season in Haliburton County is now underway and we thought that this would be a good time to bring out some of those old team photos of years gone by. This week we are featuring the 1951 champions, the

By ARLIN HACKMAN

Environmentalists are often portrayed as purveyors of gloom and doom, backing into the future rather than trusting in human ability to solve whatever problems arise. We can be overwrought, I admit. But it's sometimes difficult knowing how to gain the attention of people who hear nothing when you talk of extinction. Like the person who just shot the first peregrine falcon to breed in Ontario in more than 20 years.

Now, I wouldn't claim for a second that the loss of this slate-coloured raptor (bird of prey) ranks with the threat of a nuclear holocaust. Nor does its death in Arnprior last weekend close the history of peregrines in Ontario. But the whole event was very disturbing just the same.

First, it is a very major setback for provincial and federal wildlife managers who have been struggling to reintroduce a wild peregrine population to Ontario for the past six years. Their success obviously depends on getting the birds to nest and ensuring the subsequent survival of the offspring until reproductive maturity at two to three years of age. With the Arnprior nest containing the first Ontario peregrine hatchlings observed since 1962, success is hardly certain, especially since that nest is now empty, the chicks whereabouts unknown.

But the peregrine attack is just as odious on another level. The reason for the reintroduction program in the first place is that we unwittingly drove our indigenous population to the brink of extinction through widespread use of DDT. Though it attains speeds well over 100 miles an hour and is a spectacular airborne hunter, the peregrine can't outdistance an insidious poison in its food supply. At this juncture, the action of the individual who deliberately pulled the trigger on the species as it showed the first signs of recovery is a crime which implicates us all. It raises real doubts about our willingness to learn from past mistakes and certainly does nothing to win conservationists' support for the provincial government's move to sanction the old world sport of falconry in Ontario. If we can't temper our aggression, or greed (falcon chicks fetch high prices) to the point of rebuilding the peregrine stock, are we responsible enough to use it, or any substitute we can import, for sporting purposes? Whatever the answer it's going to take more than philosophy and the best intentions of wildlife managers to provide a safer sanctuary for the peregrine in Ontario than the Arnprior church steeple. The Federation of Ontario Naturalists has taken the unprecedented step of posting a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the conviction of those responsible for killing the endangered peregrine.

Toad's tongue doesn't wag

We've all been amazed by photographs showing frogs and toads zapping insects for lunch with one lightning-fast flash of the tongue. But while you and I may be content to marvel at this display, persistent investigation is needed to pin down the mechanics.

Frogs and toads catch flies and bugs with long sticky tongues which are then curled back into their mouths and the food gulped down. Toads have no teeth, unlike frogs, and often use their hands, as well as the backs of their eyes, to force food down their throats. These facts, and the source of the vocal repertoire, which has captured our fancy over centuries, could be discovered by any observant naturalist. Finding out how their tongues work is a different matter. The traditional hypothesis is that they operate like a crossbow when chasing food. But a rather esoteric piece of research has proven otherwise.

To find this out, researchers at the University of Michigan had to connect various muscle groups in the amphibians' throats, by hair-like wires, to machines that measured tiny changes in electrical current. Using microcomputers, a 400 frame-per-second movie camera, and a technique called synchronized electromyography, they were able to measure voltage changes occurring when muscle fibers were stimulated by brain signals and thereby isolate the major muscle groups involved in each action of the tongue. It turns out that studies of a number of frog species revealed that their tongues all work differently.

No self-respecting naturalist would be caught dead dragging all this equipment through the woods of course. More seriously, research like this often gives me an uneasy feeling about the uses to which laboratory animals are put.

Report from Parliament

On September 12, the Minister of Employment and Immigration announced the commencement of four new job creation programs. They are Canada Works, Local Employment Assistance and Development Program, Career Access and Job Corps.

The Career Access program is to provide an opportunity for individuals to overcome any severe employment barrier and provide opportunities to obtain work experience. Included under this program will be the Summer Canada Internship '84 Program and the Canada Community Service Projects.

The Job Corps is intended to provide severely employment disadvantaged people with the necessary preparation and employment related skills leading to labour market readiness. It will include the Youth Job Corps Program formally attached to Canada Community Development Projects.

The LEAD (Local Employment Assistance and Development) Program is intended to support long-term, community based planning and employment development in slow growth regions with chronic high unemployment. The criteria for eligibility is that a constituency must have had an average labour surplus rate (ratio of unemployed to labour force) of over 12% over the last four years. Victoria-Haliburton's surplus rate has been calculated at only 8.6%. Thus, no funds will be available under this program.

The Canada Works Program is a consolidation of the NEED (New Employment Expansion and Development) Program, Developmental Use of Unemployment Insurance funds for Job Creation under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act, Canada Community Development Projects (CCDP), Community Employment Program (CEP) and Summer Canada projects. It is to create additional productive term employment for unemployed people. As in the CCDP Program, Canada Works is a project based program. Organizations, businesses, individuals, municipalities, provinces, territories, and federal government departments/agencies are eligible to sponsor projects. Participants receive either wages, through which they build up insurable earnings and unemployment insurance eligibility, or Unemployment Insurance benefits under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Three priorities for projects have been established.

- 1) Activities promoting economic recovery and long range development
- 2) Activities resulting in permanent job creation
- 3) Activities contributing to the improvement of community assets or of community services.

All employees must be referred by Canada Manpower. Priority will be given to persons unemployed for eight weeks or more or who, in the counsellor's opinion, will be unlikely to obtain work for the duration of the project. Preference will be given to the following group, in this order of priority.

- 1) Unemployment Insurance exhaustees and public social assistance recipients
- 2) Laid-off workers receiving Unemployment Insurance benefits
- 3) Other unemployed persons

Accompanying this press release was the announcement of the allocations of the Canada Works Programs for each constituency. Victoria-Haliburton's allocation is $161,000. Application kits are available at Canada Employment Centres. Application deadline is October 28, with a provision for earlier starting dates. Projects may operate until March 31, 1985. Those involving the use of Unemployment Insurance funds must end by December 31, 1984. Approval of projects involving Unemployment Insurance funds is the responsibility of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. All other projects must be approved by the Minister of Employment and Immigration.

I urge all those interested to pick up an information kit as soon as possible and make an early application, as the amount allocated this year is roughly half of what we received last year under the Canada Community Development Projects Program. At the same time, inquire about the Job Corps and Career Access Programs.

Budget process

The Legislature has, of course, reconvened for the Fall Session, and the Provincial Treasurer has announced that the government will open up the budget preparation process to allow opposition parties and members of the public to contribute to discussions. I believe the veil of secrecy surrounding the development of budgets should be lifted. The new era of consultation will begin almost immediately, with the union workers who will be affected by the government's new wage control plan.

You will recall that in June of 1982, David Peterson called for a review of the budget process, describing the current practice, surrounded by secrecy, as being "grossly inadequate on any reasonable standard of democratic process." At that time he set out five proposals which would make the budgetary process conform to the realities of today.

Tougher driving laws

The Attorney-General says he's not opposed to the concept of mandatory jail sentences for first-time offenders against impaired driving laws. Reviewing his plans before the Legislature's Justice Committee, he warned that the idea of mandatory sentences for first offences has to be approached with a "good deal of caution" before it can be implemented. He stated that provincial and federal officials are closely monitoring the effectiveness of a California law which imposes compulsory jail terms in similar situations.

Home care agencies

Senior citizens living in their own homes will probably benefit greatly from a $1 million financing program announced by the Minister of Community and Social Services.

This money is intended to keep in operation some of the more than 290 social service agencies which help our senior citizens cope with living in their own homes rather than entering senior citizen facilities. For the most part, the funds will be allocated to Metro Toronto area organizations. Metro's Social Planning Council, in a recent report, estimated that 60,000 of Metro's 213,000 senior citizens (28 per cent) live below the federal government's poverty line. Poverty lines of Statistics Canada vary for urban and rural areas and range between annual incomes of $7,052 for a single person living in the country and $27,102 for a family of seven living in a large city.

Youth unemployment

David Peterson has called upon the Ontario Government to revamp its job strategy to address chronic, structural unemployment among the province's youth. Reminding the Legislature that 183,000 young Ontarians are out of work and that economic projections indicate that relief is not in sight, he called upon the Treasurer to develop a new strategy to put more young people in jobs or skill-training programs. He pointed out that while government job plans alleviate some problems, most of these operate only in the summer months, and chronic youth unemployment for the long winter months is developing in several areas of the province.

Huskies, Midland stage thriller for local fans

Teams battle to gain a 4-4 draw

By BRYAN ABBS

The Huskies travelled to Oro Friday night and came home on the short end of a 7-5 score. The game was fairly even for two periods but Oro broke away in the third with three unanswered goals.

In the first period Scott Rae scored from Dave Nicholls and Rob Abbs on a neat power play and the Huskies led 1-0 going into the second.

Both teams got into the scoring act in the second period as each squad scored four goals. The Huskies led off as Jeff Smith connected with assists by Scott Rae and John McKilvey at 1:11. Oro answered at 3:07 and 5:21 to tie the score. But at 7:27, Barry Boice connected on passes from Bernie Upton and Dave Nicholls.

Oro came back at 8:25 and again at 12:12 to take a one goal lead.

Dave Nicholls tied things up at 14:16 on a pass from Jeff Stamp.

Barry Boice got his second goal of the night from Stamp at 18:08 and the Huskies led 5-4 heading for the third.

The third period belonged to Oro as they applied big pressure and counted three times. The score probably would have been higher but for the superb goaltending of Colin Newell in the Huskie net.

A thriller

The fans at the Dysart arena were treated to a real hockey thriller on Saturday night as the Haliburton Huskies and Midland battled to at 4-4 draw.

The game started slowly for the home team and for a while it appeared as if Midland would run the Huskies right into Head Lake. Midland scored at 3:37, 6:25, and 9:50 to take what looked like a commanding 3-0 lead. The Huskies managed to get one back at 18:20 when Boomer Stamp connected from Scott Arbuthnot and Dave Nicholls and it was 3-1 at the end of the first.

The Huskies came out in the second and narrowed the gap to 3-2 when Scott Rae scored unassisted at 2:21.

Midland came back at 11:07 and again the Huskies were down 4-2.

The Haliburton boys started to play the kind of hockey they are capable of and roared to the attack. It finally paid off when Barry Boice scored from Rae to make it 4-3. Scott Arbuthnot got the equalizer at 19:19 on passes from Nicholls and Rae.

The third period showed some brilliant hockey both offensively and defensively on both sides with neither team being able to score.

Huskie goaltender Colin Newell played another excellent game as did Scott Rae with a goal and two assists.

The game was cleanly played with only eight minor infractions to both sides.

Huskies to travel to Parry Sound on Friday night and are back in Haliburton Saturday night to face Essa.

Junior Redmen lock up first place

Seniors overpowered by LCVI, put out a solid effort in 34-0 defeat

Haliburton high school's Junior Redmen football team overpowered their opponents from LCVI last Friday to register their third shutout of the season and end the regular schedule in first place.

The Juniors will meet I.E. Weldon on Thursday in Haliburton for the Kawartha West semi final. If they win, they'll advance to the championship round against Brock or Fenelon Falls.

The seniors had a harder time in their match against LCVI last week. The Lindsay team is on top of the league, and their size and strength advantage, as well as the depth of their 40 player bench, proved too much for the Haliburton seniors, who gave it a good effort on a cold and windy day.

The opening quarter set the tone of the game, with LCVI capitalizing on the wind advantage and forcing the Redmen to concede a safety. On the kickoff, Steve Smith made a good tackle on the LCVI 35, forcing a fumble that was recovered by Brad Chambers.

Haliburton managed to move ahead for one first down, but were forced to punt on the second series. LCVI mishandled the ball, but recovered to march down the field for the first major of the game.

In the second quarter LCVI notched two more touchdowns but failed to convert them, and at the half, the score stood at 20-0.

Haliburton took the wind advantage in the third quarter, and on the first series they go inside the LCVI 20 but fell short on a third down gamble.

Neither side could put any points on the board in the third quarter, but in the fourth, LCVI kept the pressure on the Redmen, scoring two more touchdowns and a single to chalk up a 34-0 win.

Despite the loss the Redmen put out a solid effort.

"Our boys, even with the score the way it was, never gave up," head coach Gary Brohman commented. "I'm very pleased with the effort they've been putting out".

In the Junior match the score was reversed, with the Redmen on the winning end of a 34-0 final tally.

The Junior Redmen opened the game with the wind advantage, kicking to LCVI deep in their zone.

Scrimmaging from the 20 yard line, LCVI mishandled the ball and Peter Allore recovered. Four plays later, Trevor Powers went over from 10 yards out to put the Redmen on the board with 6 points. The convert attempt was missed.

Working against the wind in the second quarter, Haliburton marched the ball 70 yards downfield on a drive that was capped by Mike MacNaull's 10 yard off tackle plunge for another six points. This time the convert attempt by Glen Hall was good and the Redmen were in front 13-0.

Haliburton had the wind at their backs once more in the third quarter and they made it count, as Trevor Powers went to the air often, including a 10 yard strike to Paul Allore who raced another 40 yards for a touchdown.

Later in the quarter the Redmen tried a 30 yard field goal but were wide, adding a single point to their lead.

The Redmen continued to dominate play in the fourth quarter. Paul Allore got his second major of the game on a reverse play and a 65 yard run. Key blocks were thrown by Alex Little at tight end, Andrew Burk at the flanker spot, and fullback Mike Blake.

Mike MacNaull rounded out the scoring with his second touchdown late in the quarter on a 12 yard run after a screen pass from Trevor Powers.

It was the third shutout in four games for the juniors, who got some excellent play from Mike Blake, Rob Mifflin, Jeff Nancock, Alex Little, Mike MacNaull and Peter Allore.

WHEN IT COMES TO 4WD, WE'VE GOT YOU COMING AND GOING.

The first thing you should do before buying a four wheel drive vehicle is test drive a Jeep Wagoneer or Jeep Cherokee.

It's the only way to realize exactly what our competition doesn't have to offer.

For instance:

Good mileage. Both Wagoneer and Cherokee offer the best mileage ever in a Jeep. The reason? Jeep's new 2.5 litre 4-cylinder engine that's been turning a lot of engineering heads around.

Command Trac. Shift between two wheel drive and four wheel drive with the flick of a switch. Without stopping. And it's standard equipment. That's right. Standard.

Quadra Link. The front suspension system that is opening the world of 4WD to more people than ever before. It's tougher for off-road, smoother for on road driving. Exactly what a 4WD suspension ought to do.

4-Doors. Both the Wagoneer and the Cherokee are the only sportswagons to offer this feature. Need we say more?

matching the Centennials goal for goal. The Huskies are off to a good start this season, and should be solid contenders as the season progresses.

Hunter training courses reduce accidents

By BOB DEFRIES, Ministry of Natural Resources

You don't need a university degree to go hunting, but many Ontario sportsmen require some schooling and a lot of understanding, before they can practise the sport safely.

More than half a million hunters have been thoroughly tutored in the art of "huntsmanship" since the Ministry of Natural Resources introduced a hunter safety training program in 1957. The training course, which averages about 15 hours, is followed by a written and practical test before a prospective hunter is eligible to purchase a licence. The course includes instruction in firearms, firearm safety, safe hunting practices, hunting ethics, wildlife management, hunter-landowner relations, hunting techniques and survival.

All new hunters or anyone who has not held a licence since January 1, 1968 must pass the examination. Applicants who were born after December 31, 1954, are required to complete the training course before applying for an examination.

Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope attributes a dramatic drop in accident and mortality rates since his ministry first began the program, to the quality of the course material and competence of the volunteer instructors. In 1982, there were 42 accidents and four fatalities reported in Ontario as compared to 154 accidents and 34 fatalities in 1960.

"I'm happy to say that most applicants who have successfully passed our hunter safety training requirements have proven to be responsible sportsmen and women," he said.

"Hunting means not only knowing the appropriate regulations, but also knowing how to practise the sport fairly and safely."

Bill McKittrick, the ministry's hunter education program co-ordinator, says it is important for hunters to thoroughly know their firearms inside and out.

"Even graduates of the course should memorize 'The Ten Commandments of Hunter Safety,'" McKittrick said.

He highlighted some of the major points.

- Treat every firearm as if it were a loaded firearm. This is the primary and perhaps the most important rule for all gun handlers to follow.

- Always carry your firearm so that the muzzle is under control. By safe firearm carries, the hunter controls the muzzle even if he stumbles or falls. Unless the hunter knows where the muzzle is pointed, he or a companion may be a casualty.

- Be sure of your target before you squeeze the trigger. The hunter should positively identify his target as legal game before he fires.

- Never point a firearm at anything you do not want to shoot. Avoid all horseplay while handling a firearm. Firearms are not toys and should never be pointed at others.

Local UCW members attend rally in Lochlin

By W. TAMBLYN

Over 60 UCW members from Carnarvon, Gooderham, Haliburton, Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Maple Lake, Minden, Tory Hill and Wilberforce gathered at Lochlin United Church on Wednesday, October 12 for the Region 6 Rally. Celia Brown, organist, played quiet music as the ladies gathered.

Maurine Finlay, chairperson, opened the meeting with the call to worship and prayer. Rev. John James extended a sincere welcome to all on behalf of Lochlin United Church.

In keeping with the theme of the rally, "Servant Church for the 80's", Haliburton UCW members Jan Shipley, Nancy Picard, and Nada Vaughan presented a skit on a service station called "God". In the skit "God" is a service station that remains open 24 hours a day and is self serve. A motorist comes up wanting service but is told that he should not have come there wanting to be served but to serve, and that "God" only provides the fuel, the motorist had to provide the service. In summary it was stated "If everyone would be serving each other it would be Heaven." A poem on "Giving" repeated in unison and prayer concluded the morning worship.

Ingoldsby UCW received and dedicated the offering. Minden UCW extended an invitation for the rally to be held there in 1984.

Each UCW responded to the roll call by giving a report of their activities throughout the year. These were many and varied, including serving dinners, bazaars, shared Christmas parties, catering to weddings, and serving tea at Hyland Crest Home.

The guest speaker was B.J. Klassen, Bay of Quinte Conference staff member in charge of Leadership and Development. In her remarks she asked the members to read Mark 10. She quoted verse 45, "The Son of Man came not to be served but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many." Continuing she said "as God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself, so we are to be as women in this world." To serve is to deny self in order to exalt another, she said. She wondered if people had become servants of the structure, and if the church was an institution instead of the people of God. She said we have to be open to discovery, risk to respond, and believe transformation can happen. She asked "are we concerned only about survival, or are we willing to risk and to care and to love in a very special way?" To be a servant church in the 80's is not easy, but in partnership with God we can make it a serving church and a surviving church.

Elsie Bursay of Carnarvon UCW thanked Mrs. Klassen for her informative and inspirational address.

Following a hot luncheon served by Lochlin ladies a hymn sing was enjoyed, led by Grace Coburn of Minden. Fran Clark sang a solo, "O Lord, our God." Nada Vaughan of Haliburton UCW gave a report of the weekend event she had attended at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac.

Thea Brandsma, president of Lindsay Presbyterian UCW, brought greetings. She urged support for the Bursary Fund, and reminded members of the executive meeting at Dunsford on October 31.

Other Presbyterian officers present spoke briefly on their concerns. UCW's were asked to begin to take strong action against pornography by writing letters to members of parliament. Concern was expressed that the Mission and Service fund of each church be met. June Devolin, program chairperson, stated that a filmstrip and cassette on the "Observer" was available from Rev. Jack Morrison, and could be used as program material. Vina Neal asked that names of deceased members be sent in.

At the chapel service Sunday night, Rev. Burgess spoke on Jesus healing the ten lepers, which was just fine; only one returned to give thanks, where were the nine?

Now that Thanksgiving day is over, we would like to say, we should give thanks for all our blessings every single day.

We have a cleaning lady, her name is Brenda T; she works, she cleans, she scrubs and she dusts, she's as busy as a bee.

Our office staff is busy when our 'super' is away. We hope he is having a nice holiday.

Cheryl Dillon takes the evening shift and keeps things up to par; she also is sporting a brand new car. The colour has been lovely on the hills around our town, we're afraid these heavy frosts will bring the leaves tumbling down.

Tuesday morning Rev. Wicks of Minden Gospel Church conducted service in the chapel which was really nice. He spoke on "Bearing one another's burdens, or cast your burdens on the Lord and so fulfill the law of Christ".

Tuesday afternoon Doris took the Katimavik group for a second bus ride. I had a lady seated by my side. We watched the colours and I told her of many happenings away back you know. She said how much they had enjoyed it here and were loath to go. No matter how lovely their stay had been, they must move on so another group could move in.

Tuesday night Daryl

Crowe came all by himself left Payne and Deacon laid up on the shelf. He played and sang so nicely, entertained us grand we all thought him deserving a real good hand. Down at fun and fitness, (to mention this we should) the throwing of the darts was won by Amelia Good. Ada Shorter's birthday was October the thirteenth day, but how many years she wouldn't say. Also having a birthday was Jack Shaw. We don't know his age, but we could ask his mother in law.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Harcourt community chapel brought a tasty lunch and brought their children too. They also brought a gentleman along, a nice thing to do. After they had served the lunch with cold

In recent years a great deal of thought, time and effort has gone into conserving energy. Whether it be reducing speed limits or wearing an extra sweater at night, everyone has at least thought about it.

Energy, Mines and Resources Canada has offered us a few added incentives to make changes in our fuel consumption. One of the newer projects is the Propane Grant Program.

This program is designed for commercial and farm vehicles to reduce their dependency on imported oil. The National Energy Board predicts that Canadian propane supplies will continue to exceed demand for the rest of the century.

Therefore, Energy, Mines and Resources Canada is offering a grant of 100% of the eligible costs for materials and labour to a maximum of $400 for purchasing a new vehicle with, or converting to a single fuel propane system. The equipment must be purchased in Canada and labour costs are eligible to a maximum of $150 per vehicle. Eligible vehicles are those that are used 50% or more for business purposes in Canada and farm vehicles.

As well, applications for the grant must be filed within one year of the conversion to propane or of the purchase of the new vehicle. The purchase or conversion to propane must also take place in the five-year period that commenced October 28, 1980.

For further information about eligible vehicles, cost of conversion or perhaps some general information about propane itself, contact the County Information Centre. We are located in the Drag River Municipal Building in Haliburton and you can call us at (705) 457-2733. Our office is open Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

And remember, you will never know the answer until you ask the question.

Kinmount Korner

By MILLIE MOSS
Open house was held Wednesday, October 5 at Kinmount Public School when parents met new teachers Susan Chambers, Linda Isaac and principal Gordon Goddard, looked over their children's work and displays of art. The parents also tried the new printer, added to the computer, and discussed the students' work with their teachers. There was an excellent turnout and refreshments were later prepared and served by the senior girls. It was a very enjoyable evening.

Bill and Dora Lilley of Norland visited with family in Ottawa from Friday, October 7 until Tuesday, October 11 when they returned home. They thoroughly enjoyed their visit to Upper Canada Village at Morrisburg. Dora liked it so much she asked about her chances at a job with the ladies there. They also visited Hull, Quebec and up through the Gatineau Hills. Dora reported the leaves had less colour the closer they got to Ottawa, but then how could the Fall this year be nicer anywhere than around the Highlands?

Many County students participated October 12 in the cross-country run at Emily Park near Peterborough. Any further news on this will be reported here next week.

We enjoyed the company of Bonnie Walker, Charlie Ryan, both of Weston, Bill and Jason Moss for our Thanksgiving holiday.

Amy and Larry Coker of Utterston were guests of Mary and John Pyke at their Norland home, Sunday, October 10 along with Helen and Alex Graham of Norland. On Monday, October 11, Ida and Clyde Pardy of Cobocok and Lindsay were dinner guests.

Happy birthday to Alex Graham on Sunday, October 16. Amy Coker, Monday, October 17 and Jason Moss who will be nine on Wednesday, October 19.

Results of St. Patrick's C.W.I. Card Party, Tuesday, October 9 were: men's high, Norah Brandon; men's low, Clara Watson; ladies' high, Irene McNamara, ladies low, Verlie Young; lone hands, Hugh Phillips, and at this "do" there were seven tables of players.

The Kinmount Senior Citizens' Club #714 held ten tables of euchre games

Thursday, October 13 and results were: ladies' high, Helen Jones; ladies' low, Vivian Anderson; men's high, Eileen Hartnett; men's low, Harold Scarlett; lone hands, Robert Jones. Two winners of the lucky draw were: Lil Porter and Ambrose Watson. Winner of the beautiful quilt was Lisa MacNeal of Oshawa, who will no doubt be starting her "hope chest". You can't start too young and Lisa is three.

Winner of the cushions was Marcella Godin of Chesley, Ontario.

President Clara Watson would like to take this opportunity to thank all the folks who helped in any way towards making this an enjoyable evening.

T.J.'s in our town, which is now operated by Cindy Watson, is still a friendly place to stop by for a coffee. Cindy is busy making up menus for future use and all include a homemade soup. Sounds delicious!

Congratulations to Norma and Walter Hamilton of Kinmount, Reg and Muriel Welch of Minden who became grandparents when their children, Mary and Brian Hamilton, also of Minden, presented them with a seven pound nine ounce grandson named Mark George at Civic Hospital in Peterborough on Thursday, October 13.

Kinmount Community Centre is inviting all teenagers, goblins and ghosts to its first Halloween Teen Dance. This "Monster Mash" will commence at 8:00 p.m., October 28, 1983 and end at the bewitching hour, 12:00 midnight. Admission is $1.50. Come one and all and bring your batty friends. Groove and move to our wacky way out music! Chirpy chirpy cheep cheep! Horrific prizes, ghoulish games and fun, fun, fun for everyone! Dress in your best costume and be one of three to win a prize. A door prize will also be won (your choice of wood or aluminum).

If you should see a little orange kitten around town would you please return it to Cindy Hill or give her a call at 488-2515. The kitten was seen to have been the recipient of a kick and could be lying hurt or dead. Its name is "Cookie" and is the pet of tiny John Hill who keeps asking "Why did Cookie run away mom?"

Wilberforce News

The Fashion and Hair show Saturday, October 15 turned out to be a smash hit. This was a first and no one knew just what to expect. The curtain was late rising but once things got under way the show turned out to be well put together and entertaining.

The commentator, Susan Griffin, had a clear voice that reached to the back of the room. After a friendly greeting she announced that the clothing worn by the models was from the Country Pickin's and the Family Fashion stores in Haliburton. The hair styles were by Cathy Griffin, proprietor of the County Clip and Curl in Wilberforce, by Rick Tremblott and by Lois Griffin.

Introduced were various dress styles beginning with the casual wear, each model having a suitable hair style. The garments were worn by our local young people who had been well rehearsed in the art of modelling. These were followed by children, all of whom did surprisingly well as they turned and pivoted to show their clothes to the best advantage. Western clothes were shown and informal evening wear. Three girls and three boys represented the Toronto punk rock style.

For lighter moments there was a sensuous cat dance and a presentation of modern dancing by three very agile young people.

Those who made up the show are to be congratulated on their program. All the make up was done by two girls. They must have been very busy. The contestant did a superb job. The appreciative audience was loud in applause.

As the show ended Reeve Keith Tallman was called upon to accept a cheque, the proceeds of the evening. This was a donation to the Medical Clinic in Wilberforce toward the purchase of an ECG machine. Many thanks to the organizers and all the young people who took part.

The Monmouth Figure Skating Club will be holding their registration day on Saturday, October 29 from 10 to 11 a.m. Fees this year will be $25 for beginners and juniors and $30 for seniors. Skating lessons will begin on Wednesday, November 2 with beginners and juniors at 6:30 p.m. Seniors will have their lesson from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. All seniors who pass the junior coaches test on October 22 should be there at 6:30 to be assigned to their groups.

The cheese sales last year were such a success, we will be selling again this year. Order forms will be available the night of registration. The executives this year are: Sandy Smith, president; Cathy Agnew, secretary-treasurer; and Lorraine Casey, vice president. Call any of the above for further information. A very successful rummage sale was held at St. Margaret's church on Saturday. The ACW members are kept busy marking clothes and setting up tables. They are very appreciative of the many good wearable clothes that are turned in to the church. Another sale follows this Saturday, October 22, and a last one October 29.

On Sunday Maynooth defeated the Bancroft Old Timers and Whitney took a game from Wilberforce.

Albert MacDuff died at the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, on October 7 in 81st year.

He was predeceased by his wife, Velma; brothers, Jim and Fred and sisters, Lena and Maggie. Surviving are his children, Bernard, of Toronto; Douglas, Donna and Jacqui of Lindsay, and Woneeta of Orillia; eight grandchildren and one great grandchild; two brothers, David and Walter and two sisters, Nellie McColl and Alma Morrison.

The funeral service was held at the Gooderham Pentecostal Church on Sunday, October 9, with interment at Glamorgan Cemetery.

The late Mr. MacDuff lived in this area until recently. Our community expresses sympathy to his family at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frost of Ottawa were overnight guests of Beulah and Gordon Barr last week.

Visitors with Norma and Bob Fothering recently were Norma's sisters, Gladys Monaghan and Elva Whitcombe of Toronto.

A baby shower was held in the United Church basement last Tuesday evening for Cheryl Billings and her three weeks old baby girl, Tracy Lynn. Assisting Cheryl were: her sister, Lynn, and school friends, Caroline McCrea Richardson and Tammy Dewey. Among the many useful and attractive gifts were several pretty pink or red dresses so that Tracy is all set for Christmas and party time.

Lunch, including a large cake decorated with baby shoes, and a panda bear, created by Caroline Richardson, brought the pleasant evening to a close.

The Friendship Circle met at my home last Tuesday afternoon. Eleven ladies were present. After a social time, plans were made for the Christmas meeting and gift exchange November 29 at the home of Jean Frazer. Lunch included a "Friendship Cake" made by Vivian Dovell. Susan, daughter of Gordon and Joan Riel of Spruce Grove, Alberta, visited her grandparents, Vera and Walter Riel, recently.

Alberta and Wilbert Switzer spent a happy Thanksgiving weekend when their family and friends visited at their home.

Most of our summer friends closed their cottages for the season last weekend. Among these were: Marion James, her two sons, Norman and Doug, with their wives and families of Bowmanville.

Maria Birzvilkis has sold her home to Shelley and Jim Greenwood. She moved her furniture last Saturday and will be living with family members. Further plans are made. Her friends wish her God speed and happy, healthful days ahead.

A bear was bold enough to come into our village last week. It wandered around near Ed Taylor's and Clifford Mintz's homes.

Mrs. Olga King passed away Tuesday, October 11. She rested at Nesbitt's Funeral Parlor, Bobcaygeon, where services were held Thursday with interment at Bobcaygeon.

Lloyd and Olga lived on Highway 507. Surviving are her husband, Lloyd, one son, David, and two daughters, Violet and Joyce.

The sympathy of our community is conveyed to the bereaved family.

The United Church was filled last Sunday for a special Thanksgiving Service. The minister, Maurice Bradley, officiated for the dedication of a baptismal cup which was donated by Marion Funk in memory of her husband whose inspirational messages in song

The Ministry of Health has announced it will cost share the salaries of co-ordinators of volunteer programs in the province's 43 public health units.

In making the announcement, Health Minister Keith

Norton said the new cost sharing incentive will encourage health units to establish or expand existing volunteer programs.

A ministry survey conducted last fall showed that 21 public health units used the services of 1,345 volunteers who assisted in a wide range of health unit programs. Volunteers were active in vision and hearing screening, fluoride rinsing as part of dental programs, development of educational materials, and transportation of people who used health unit services.

The survey also indicated that paid co-ordinators of volunteer programs can generate an increase in their numbers and the types of programs within a health unit thereby freeing professional staff to expand the scope and role of health services in a community. To assist the public health units' expansion of volunteer programs, the ministry's public health branch is distributing a new volunteer resource guide to all medical officers of health.

Goat shows were a success

By ERNEST HILLS

In co-operation with both the Kinmount and Haliburton County Fair Boards, the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society organized and conducted two of the most successful goat shows in the area at the respective fairs.

At the Haliburton County Fair there were 111 animals on show in the competitions. All breeds of goat were represented at the fair, with winners too numerous to note here, however we would like to mention the first place finishers in the special categories.

Rokus Bezemer, of Orillia, won trophies for best doe in show and doe with the best udder in the show. Rokus Bezemer also won in the senior showmanship competition. For the best dam and daughter in the show Laurie McNeven of Lindsay won a trophy, as well as for the best breeders herd in the show.

The Johnson family cornered the remaining showmanship classes, with Pam Johnson winning intermediate showmanship, Jim Johnson winning in the junior showmanship competition, and Paul Johnson clinching the six and under category.

At the Kinmount Fall Fair there were 128 animals in the competition. We were pleased to welcome Mr. Jack Spiers to the show. Mr. Spiers is currently the interim president of the Canadian Goat Society.

In the showmanship competitions at the Kinmount Fair, the senior showmanship award went to Maurice Bradley, who is an active member of the Haliburton Highlands Goat Society. Intermediate showmanship went to Judy Garrick, while in the junior showmanship category Shelly Blanchard took home a trophy. Finally, in the pee-wee showmanship competition Paul Johnson won another trophy for the mantle.

Other specials included six presentations to Jack Spiers, of Windson Acres, for best doe kid, best doe in show, doe with the best udder in show, best breeders herd in show, as well as both the senior and junior grand champion.

Other winners included Laurie McNeven, of Lindsay, for best dam and daughter in show; Marcella Kurmeyer, of Woodville, for best yearling milker in show; and finally Al Kurmeyer, of Windy Maple farm, for best doe kid under three months of age.

We would like to express our thanks to Mrs. Shirley Steele for an outstanding job of judging, for her patience with we who are novices at such things, and for the wonderful way she approached the special needs of youngsters in the competitions.

As well we would like to thank Shirley Steele and her husband Brad, and Louise Webber of Gelert, for putting on display two rare breeds of goats for the general public at both fairs. The Steele's brought a pygmy goat, while Louisa Webber had a pair of Angora goats on display. Thank you both for the time and trouble taken to inform and enlighten us.

Finally a note of thanks to both fair boards, for their support and co-operation, and to the individuals and businesses of Haliburton who so generously contributed to the enhancement of the goat shows, and the expectations for future years.

drinks or a cup of tea, the children sang and acted for us which was good to see. Thursday night the Bingo was conducted by Lyle McKnight and son; we thank them for coming and a job well done.

Each morning down in the gym, the girls give us exercises to keep us nice and trim. They sure know how to put us through our paces. To keep our pants up, we men wear heavy braces, but the ladies, most of them wear slacks, but the way we have to bend and twist, it almost breaks our backs. But generally speaking they say we must do this to keep our joints from squeaking.

Our faithful came again Friday to entertain, they seldom let us down sunshine or rain. Grace to lead us in a sing song and Norma to play. We look for their coming each Friday.

Payne and Deacon are not coming Tuesday night; it interferes with bowling. They are coming Friday night instead to keep the ball rolling. They have added a harmonica player and he can really play, so on Friday night, once a month they will be coming our way.

Dreamers and Dreamers: For man is a dreamer ever he glimpses the hills afar and plans for the things out yonder where all his tomorrow are and back of the sound of the hammer and back of the hissing steam and back of the hand on the throttle is ever a daring dream.

Calorie group meet

SUBMITTED

The Haliburton Branch of Canadian Calorie Counters hosted the Area 2 District 5 Rally, on October 1, and Haliburton president, Louise Sisson, welcomed 66 members attending from five branches within Area 2.

Gary Stephenson, a martial arts expert, from Minden spoke to the group about "Self-Defence for Women" and he and his assistants demonstrated various techniques. This session was thoroughly enjoyed by all the ladies.

After a lunch served by the Legion Ladies Auxiliary, the members honoured the women who have achieved the best weight losses for the past year. The Queen of the Rally was from Lindsay, Geraldine Noppert, with a loss of 92 lbs. and the runner up was from Haliburton, Sandra Dovell, with a loss of 67½ lbs. pounds. Twenty-three members received "Pounds Plus" ribbons with losses of 10 lbs. plus to 80 lbs. plus, and nine stars received ribbons. Three new stars, being those who have reached their goal weight within this year, were Sandra Dovell, Haliburton Club with a loss of 67½ lbs., and from the Minden Club Kathy Gartschore with a loss of 58½ lbs., and Beth Titus with a loss of 36½ lbs. There were eight Group Winners as well as a Club Best Loser from each branch.

Attendance being a key to consistent weight loss was mentioned, and 20 ladies received gifts for over 90% attendance throughout the year.

All gifts and raffle gifts were hand-crafted by members of the Haliburton Branch and these were all enjoyed by the winning members.

Area representative, Holly Cooper, from Minden, closed the rally and Lindsay extended an invitation to next year's rally.

"Indecision is slow poison. It begets do-nothingness. Better to fail because you made the wrong decision than because you made no decision at all."

There was a well attended shower held in the Community Centre on Thursday evening, October 6, in honour of Christine Keown, daughter of Chuck and the late Doris Keown of Dorset. The bride to be received many beautiful gifts and an abundance of delicious refreshments were served.

A visitor to the village recently was Mrs. Helen Glenn (nee Barry) from Niagara Falls. Helen was visiting her sister, Mrs. Marcella McKay as well as other relatives and friends in the village.

The Sir Sandford Fleming College workshop, Calico Christmas will take place on Saturday, November 19 from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Dorset Community Centre. The fee is $15 plus $5 for materials. If you wish to register for this workshop please do so by sending payment to Sir Sandford Fleming College, Box 339, Haliburton, Ont., K0M 1S0. The class is filling up so it is imperative that you register as soon as possible. A good way to get new ideas for Christmas gifts.

We send best wishes for a speedy recovery to Herb Curnow who has been a patient in Huntsville Hospital but I understand is to be transferred to a Toronto hospital. We hope that his pain has subsided and that his problem will be resolved in the near future.

Every so often the McKey name appears as a lucky winner in some draw. Our nephew, Lloyd McKey, who lives in Hespeler was visiting in Dorset during Pioneer Week and purchased a ticket on a raffle being held by the Dorset Snowmobile Club. He was surprised when he received a telephone call telling him that he was the winner of a VHS unit, which I am told is an attachment that you use with your TV set to record or show movies. It is quite an expensive item to win on a draw but the same gentleman won an automobile on a ticket draw some years ago.

And in this country where we are not often subjected to tornados, hurricanes or other violent weather conditions, many were startled Friday morning early when they heard vibrations or felt them and saw articles in the house shaking, if even so slightly.

That storm last Thursday was the cause of many trees being uprooted and breaking off. I spent a pleasant time at the home of Janet and Tony Abela, along with a few other girls that same night and coming out that road was tricky when you've never been in there before. Two trees had come down just in the time it took my son to call in for me and drive back out.

A date to remember: St. James A.C.W. Turkey Supper, Saturday, October 22, 4:00 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. to be held at the Kinmount Legion Hall. Adults $5.50, children 6 to 12 years and preschoolers free. Come one, come all and enjoy the company of the many people who attend our annual dinner. See you there.

Joan and Ken Hyams left Wednesday for Woodbridge where they attend a beautiful wedding and later, a wedding breakfast in Rexdale. They returned home last Sunday both suffering colds after having been in the rain and becoming chilled. I hope you're much better soon folks.

Get better soon Sam Telford. Stay well and happy, read the Echo and give me a call at 488-2353.

added much to many church services. Also dedicated was a pulpit Bible donated by Helen McMullen and her brother, Maxwell Kaye, in memory of their mother, Mrs. Kotzenmeyer, former soloist in First United Church, Hamilton. The church was attractive with the Autumn decorations of coloured leaves, fruit and vegetables.

Several LOBA ladies attended the Orange lodge meeting, as guests of Minden LOBA at the Haliburton hall on Wednesday evening where Right Worshipful Grand Mistress of Ontario East, Evelyn Frost was a guest. A most enjoyable evening was had by all. A couple of our members, Greta Reeds, Kay Raske and Marion Newman are still on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brecht of Scarborough and Mr. and Mrs. John Faulkner of Peterborough and families were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faulkner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rutter of Omamee were visitors of Mrs. Ruth Rutter and Garnet last week.

Surely all the rain of the past week will help all the wells. So many wells have gone dry and surely that problem should be over with! Power in our part of town was off on Wednesday night from ten past four until 8:30 p.m. and again on Thursday from 5:30 p.m. till well past seven p.m. In these emergencies it is good to have an old reliable wood stove or a gas or propane stove.

Trucks and bulldozers continue to forge ahead on the new IGA store site.

In spite of a few really chilly nights, robins still remain in our area.

The trees are still a blaze of glorious colour and truly so beautiful.

Mrs. Christina Kerr accompanied her sister Marjorie Fountain of Norland to the retired teachers' dinner in Oshawa on Thursday.

Winners in the Seniors card games on Tuesday evening were as follows. Euchre: ladies first, Viola Dixon, 70; second, Kathleen Taylor, 65; lone hands, Adwina Holland, 4; consolation, Marjorie Fountain, 42; gent's first, Don Alguire, 72; second, Dave Harper, 67.

Norland Natter

By KELLY GRAHAM

Hi. I don't know about you but after last Thanksgiving weekend I'm stuffed. I hope you folks got as much good food as I did.

To start off on a serious note, here's some council news:

Laxton, Digby and Longford Townships Council agreed on September 13 to proceed with the proposed recreation centre in Ward Memorial Park. Town clerk, Vernon LeCraw, has applied for a grant from Wintario and financial assistance from the Community Recreation Centres Act.

Laxton, Digby and Longford council voted on September 6 that a grant of $98.45 will be given to the Women's Institute. Their property will also be exempt from tax in the future.

And last but not least - Laxton, Digby and Longford Townships council are supporting the idea of a lawn bowling green and club house at Ward Memorial Park in Norland. Township resident Jesse Buxey presented plans for the proposed facility.

The Victoria County Mobile Preschool Resource Centre is once again coming to our area. The toy and book library will be in Norland at the community hall on November 9 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The mobile will visit Coboconk on November 3 at the Public Library from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Darlene England was the lucky winner of the Wintario ticket that Shirley Harrison drew last week.

How many of you watched "Reach For The Top" on Saturday, October 8? Those of you who did, obviously, watched four Fenelon Falls Secondary School students defeat Collingwood. The school recently played another play-off game which will be broadcast on October 29. I won't spoil the excitement by giving you all the details.

There will be a teen dance on Saturday, October 22 at the Norland Community Hall at 8:00 p.m. Admission is $1.

Also on Saturday, October 22, Ruth and Rudy Janke, of Norland, are throwing an end-of-the-season party for all customers at their gas station, Norland Discount Gas. Everyone is welcome and a good time is guaranteed. To get to the Janke house turn left about a mile and a half North of Norland. Once you've turned onto the lane continue for a short distance until you reach the first house. There you are!

There will be a film shown at the Pioneer Baptist Church on Sunday, October 23 at 7:30 p.m. There is no admission and everyone is welcome. The film is entitled "Preparing for Adolescence: Peer Pressure and Sexuality."

The great Citrus Fruit Blitz took place on October 18 and 19. Two local Fenelon Falls Secondary School students, Michael Puterbaugh and Allison Dunbar hoped to sell crates of oranges and grapefruit - with all proceeds going to FFSS. I hope you got your order in.

Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Topham, formerly of Thornhill, who recently moved to Norland.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble of Shadow Lake Drive had their son and his family from Oshawa for Thanksgiving.

The euchre scores for Thursday, October 13 were as follows: ladies high, Debbie Gostlin; men's high, Jack Stephens; lone hands, Dale Lightfoot.

Well, that's all folks. If any of you have any interesting news items for me, please call 454-3707.
